GENEVIEVE,

From the French of Hyppolyte Etiennez.

Translated for the Commercial Journal.

The bed-chamber was more beautiful still; the walls were tapestried with rose colored silk, overhung with indian muslin spangled with stars of gold; the window curtains, garnished with point-lace, were upheld by large bouquets of roses; the mantle-piece, made of Carrara marble, was surmounted by a large Bohemian mirror, framed in a garland, sculptured in the same spotlessly white material. At the farther end of the apartment stood an immense basket of shell-work, filled with flowers, diffusing throughout the chamber a most delightful perfume. In the midst stood the bed, at the four corners of which were four statues of alabaster, each holding in the one hand an antique lamp with three branches, and with the other sustaining the bed curtains; the ottomans, chairs and tables were made of the finest ebony, inlaid with pearl and covered, like the walls, with rose colored satin, striped with silver.

When they entered the last mentioned apartment, the old nobleman turned towards the astonished young girl.

"My dear child, said he, you will remain here a few days. During that time nothing shall be wanting to you, and if you have any wishes it is only necessary to express them, in order that they may be gratified immediately."

The unhappy child was quite dazzled. The sight of these beautiful things and the idea that she was in some royal palace, and that it was perhaps the king himself who was loading her with benefits, so bewildered her that she felt no other sentiment than that of curiosity.

"But my lord, demanded she, where am I?"

"At home."

At these words Genevieve sunk down with astonishment.

"Yes, Genevieve, all this belongs to you, resumed the unknown one, on conditions, however; it is that you will not seek to discover who I am. Indeed your efforts would be useless."

Genevieve, once alone, heaved a profound sigh after a short hesitation, she continued to examine one after another the wonders which surrounded her. She did not do this, however, without great precaution, like a lost cat which had suddenly entered a strange room. She dared scarcely walk; those downy carpets, which rebounded under her feet, produced in her a feeling perfectly indescribable; by little, however, she became more familiar, and touched the various objects, timidly; with the end of her finger, and with an insurmountable feeling of apprehension; still, it was impossible for Genevieve to meet with anything more in accordance with her taste; those flowers, scattered everywhere so profusely and which more than replaced those for which she had wept so much during the preceding night finished her seduction, and soon, all fear disappeared from her bosom.

An instant afterwards, four women entered the appartment; they took from Genevieve, who resigned herself into their hands, her old dress, and clothed her in sumptuous apparel more in keeping with her new position.

From thence, Genevieve was truly the queen or rather the divinity of the place; for she was wonderfully handsome by nature and all that human art could do was brought into requisition to render her still more beautiful.

Although the existence of Genevieve passed away pleasantly enough, as long as the impressions created by the novelty of this luxurious mode of life, continued, it soon began to appear to her exceedingly monotonous. Many days, many months, even, had passed since she had been established at the palace and yet the old nobleman had not returned.—Genevieve began to grow weary of this solitude, and to place a just estimation upon this gilded cage in which they had imprisoned her vivacity and her youth. Still, she bore this evil patiently, for, after all, liberty is not indispensably necessary to women and in truth, liberty was the only thing of which she was deprived.

One night, Genevieve was calmly sleeping in her white and rosy coach, when a strange noise suddenly interrupted her slumbers. This noise, which seemed at some distance, was only heard by her at intervals. The young girl sat up in her bed, and listened attentively. It was a soft and voluptuous music. Little by little, the sounds became stronger; and some male and female voice, elegantly harmonizing, gave utterance to the most melodious airs.—This singing caused the deepest emotion in the young girls bosom. Thus situated alone, in the silence of the night, and in the midst of the soft twilight produced by her alabaster lamp, the soul of the poor child was entirely disposed to this wild enchantment, and the music, like an all pervading fluid, diffused itself through her frame. Soon the noise increased still more in intensity, then it changed its nature; it was no longer singing, but shouts and laughter; and at the same time, an unaccustomed stir took place in every part of the house. Genevieve leaped uneasily from the bed, and ran to the window. Some servants, bearing torches, were traversing the court on all sides, whilst others were carrying baskets filled with delicacies and other festive preparations. There was, evidently, a fete in the palace. Suddenly, all this bustle ceased, and the court was again wrapped in obscrity, and the palace in silence. Genevieve endeavored again to sleep; but slumber had deserted her pillow, and the young girl, a prey to extreme agitation, was given up to all the reflections, fatigue, and restlessness of insomnolency.

Deeply impressed by the tumultuous scenes which had so suddenly awakened her, and troubled by those vague terrors which solitude and darkness always engender, Genevieve regarded her position under a new light. A horrid suspicion entered her breast, and immediately, she no longer doubted that she was in one of those places called Petites Maisons, and built for the pleasures of the licentious nobility. At this thought, the pure and timid girl shuddered violently, and lighting a torch, she hastily dressed herself, as though some providential instinct had warned her of an unexpected danger.

Indeed, almost immediately the door of the apartment turned noiselessly on its hinges, and a man stealthily entered the chamber.

It was the nobleman.

The sight of Genevieve up and dressed, appeared greatly to surprise him; but, dissembling his disappointment, he advanced and kindly said,

"My child, are you unwell?"

Genevieve, who, in her pre-occupation, had not perceived the entry of the unknown, suddenly raised her head, and recoiled in terror.

"Well," asked the nobleman, "are you happy here?"

In pronouncing these words, he extended his hand and sought to take that of Genevieve, but she withheld it, and drawing herself up with dignity,

"My lord," she said, "I do not know for what purpose you keep me shut up in this house; but if it is not to deceive me basely, carry me back to my father, as you promised to do."

The nobleman frowned. Indeed, it must be avowed that the sole object of all his gifts and kindnesses was but to corrupt and seduce the young girl: but vanity and ambition are not the strongest passions of the class to which Genevieve belonged, and the great lord soon learning this, judged it best to take another course in order to obtain this stubborn heart.

"Genevieve," resumed he in a grave tone, "if you wish me to speak frankly, know, then, that I love you; I love you as woman never before has been loved. I am no longer a young man, and it would not be becoming in me to make long speeches and fine gestures to convince you of it: but if my words are cold my heart is not, and I repeat, I love you, very tenderly.

The tone in which these words were uttered, calmed the young girl's exasperation. There was still in her a kind of distrust, and looking suspiciously on the unknown:

"My lord," she said, "what is commonly done with women beloved?"

"They are made happy!"

"And honored," resumed the girl with energy.

"You will be so here," cried the nobleman with vivacity.

Genevieve shook her head doubtingly.

"My lord," she replied, "I do not deceive myself; your offers are as dishonoring to yourself as to me; drop then this conversation and these promises, and send me back to my relations; these are the only means to restore me to happiness.

Her coolness, and the tone of conviction with which she spoke, disconcerted a moment the nobleman; he bit his lips with vexation, but did not lose all courage.

"My dear child," said he with feigned resignation, "I will not keep you here any longer against your will: in a few hours it will be day, and then you shall return home."

Genevieve's handsome face brightened with indescribable joy.

"You are doubtless," continued the mysterious stranger, "little acquainted with this part of the city, and would find it difficult to return home alone; I will give orders to my steward to re-conduct you—pray, where do you live?"

"In Grand street, my lord."

"And what is your father's name?"

"Joseph Poultier."

A sudden change was immediately wrought in the nobleman's countenance; he looked upon the young girl with particular attention; and remained for a moment thoughtful, as if endeavoring to recall an old recollection.

"Joseph Poultier," repeated he—"twelve years ago a man of that name lived at Saint-Germain"—

"It was he, my lord"—

"Afterwards, he left the place suddenly?"

"I have heard him say, indeed, that some imprudent words, uttered in a moment of intoxication, and reported to the police, compelled him to fly. Taking me away from the nurse with whom I had been placed, he came with my mother and myself to seek a refuge in Paris, where he is now employed at the fish-market."

"And did not your nurse live at Fontenay?"

"Yes, my lord."

"At a gardener's named Rolland?"

"Indeed, I think I remember—"

During this interrogation, the unknown trembled violently; his countenance, at first marked with an animated expression, changed, and gave evidence that a new sentiment had been awakened in his heart.—Genevieve, exceedingly surprised at these questions, at the tone in which they were asked, and at the knowledge which this man appeared to have of her family, looked at him with an air of stupefaction.

Suddenly the nobleman grasped his forehead with his hands, and in a voice betraying the most profound emotion, exclaimed:

"Ah! wretch that I am, what was I about to do!"

Then throwing himself at the young girl's feet, he cried,

"Genevieve! Ah! Genevieve!"

But making a powerful effort, he recovered his self-possession and rose immediately; fearing, probably, that he would yet yield to an emotion which he had just found so difficult to combat, he rushed out of the apartment. Some moments after, he returned.

"My child," said he to the young girl who was evidently uneasy, I have just written to your father, in an hour my carriage will conduct you to the Ursuline Convent, where your family shall call for you; but before we part, pardon the offence that I have committed; swear to me that you will never speak of what has taken place from the time you left home until your return thither; and now accept this chain as a memento of my respectful affection.

In saying these words, the nobleman took from his pocket a massive golden chain and gave it to the young girl; then wiping the tears from his eyes he continued:

"Genevieve, wear this chain constantly around your neck, some day a lady may pass near you, and tremble at beholding it. Pay particular attention to her features, for through her—and I have sought her these fifteen years; I will divulge to you a secret which interests greatly your destiny."

These affectionate words, the sincerity with which they were uttered, and the impenetrable mystery contained in them, plunged Genevieve into an inexpressible agitation; she took the chain with a trembling hand, and promised, with broken voice, to do, in all things, as the nobleman required. He continued some time to look upon her as though he were not able to detach his eyes from her countenance then suddenly seizing her hand, he bore it with transport to his lips, and rushed madly out of the apartment.

This strange scene had entirely paralysed all the faculties of Genevieve, and she remained in a kind of stupor.

In about an hour, a woman entered and said:

"The carriage is waiting Miss."

Genevieve arose mechanically and descended without saying a word. Some minutes afterwards, the scene which the reader is already aware, took place at the Ursuline Convent.

Despite the serious reflections which the recollection of these various events called up in the mind of Genevieve, she had by no means lost her passion for flowers. It was, in her, a vocation. Her education, her manners, her new ideas no longer permitted her to think of becoming a flower-girl; she was therefore, a florist.

At the time of which we speak, this trade or rather this art, had been but recently introduced into France. The nunneries had almost entirely monopolized the business, which was, to them, less an object of speculation, than a means of occupying pleasantly the leisure hours of the cloister. Their bouquets were a coarse assemblage of feathers badly painted, and of leaves badly cut.

Still the use of these flowers was very general. The ladies did not disdain these artificial ornaments; the rich filled their palaces with them, and were, especially, in the habit of decorating their desert tables profusely with them. But they were obtained from China or Italy.

In 1738, a distinguished botanist, named Seguin, first established a Shop of this kind in Paris, and soon sent out from it, specimens equal in elegance, beauty and finish, to the foreign productions. His success was immense, and soon aroused many envious persons against him. The painters pursued him as an intruder upon their art; the nunneries wished him to take out credentials from them, or form a new association in connection with the other florists. It required all the powerful protection which his genius had secured to him, to enable him to triumph over his enemies.

The road, then, was perfectly marked out for Genevieve. She had, under her eyes, model of her celebrated master; and to crown all, she was gifted with an exquisite perception of the beautiful.

The young girl, soon, had the confidence to display her works to the public. She converted her father's shop into an elegant store, and installed herself there in the midst of her dazzling marvels.

☞ In a certain part of Massachusetts, where the small pox prevails to some extent, the keeper of a public tavern notwithstanding he had a malignant case of the disease in his house admitted a bridal party on a wedding tour. The bride caught the infection, and in the course of ten days was a corpse.

Now is the Only Time.

ANOTHER GRAND RUSH for Gold Pencils at Barrows & Turner's. The last lot receiving and selling off to close the stock. Those persons who are not supplied will now meet with the last opportunity, as we do not intend to continue in the trade, therefore, those that we have will be disposed, and no more received.

The assortment is "first rate" made up of the different sizes made, suited to the wants of every person, and in quality, we warrant them equal to any in use.

Buyers at wholesale may never again meet with the like opportunity—the stock will be disposed of in lots to suit the customers, and at prices less than can be purchased elsewhere.

Medical.

Dr. Wistar's Great Discovery!

IT was once said—"There is nothing new under the sun." This has been emphatically true in reference to medicine. Hundreds of pills, panaceas, expectorants and specifics of all sorts, have been puffed into notoriety—all made mainly of the same ingredients, adding no new materials to the "healing art." But Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, furnishes a new medical agent—a new principle evolved from nature's own depository. It cures Asthma, Incipient Consumption, Liver complaint, and all diseases of the Lungs, when nothing else will. An honorable member of the Canadian Parliament, writes that it has cured him of asthma of ten years' standing.

A. Williams, attorney at law, 58 William street, New York, has been cured of the same disease of twenty-four years' standing.

Mr. Cozens, of New Jersey, makes affidavit that it cured him of a supposed consumption, after his physicians had given him up to die; and so with hundreds of others.

☞ Remember we positively, in no case, palm off unreal cures produced by this invaluable remedy.

☞ Be sure to get Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry—there are imitations!

FAHNESTOCK'S VERMIFUGE.—This is to certify that my youngest boy, aged about two years, was taken sick last summer with the summer complaint. He was attended by a physician all summer, and received little or no relief. About the middle of November, I gave him some of Fahnestock's Vermifuge, which brought away one hundred and thirty large worms, and gave him immediate relief; he has been perfectly well ever since.

Let all the World Know

THAT SELLERS' VERMIFUGE is the Best in Use!! Here is the Proof:

LICKING STATION, KY., Dec. 17th, 1845.

Mr. R. E. Sellers: I have the pleasure to inform you that I have used in my practice, your celebrated Vermifuge, with the most happy results. I have formerly used Fahnestock's, but being persuaded to try yours, I have found it far superior in every respect, and can say without the fear of contradiction, that your Vermifuge possesses more virtue than any I ever used, and most cordially recommend it to the attention of the public. I will state a case where I gave one vial of your Vermifuge: My brother's child was pining and wasting to a mere skeleton; in 30 hours after I gave the Vermifuge, the enormous quantity of upwards of six hundred worms were passed. The child that was given up as lost, is now well and as hearty as any in the neighborhood.

SELLERS' VERMIFUGE!—The great worm medicine of the day.—Parents, read the following, and if your children are troubled with worms, get a vial and try it.

LICKING STATION, Ky, Dec. 10, 1845.

Mr. R. E. Sellers:—I purchased of B. F. & J. H. Gardner two vials of your truly valuable Vermifuge, two of my children being sick at the time. Your Vermifuge proved more than I could have expected; from one child there passed nearly 300 worms, in about 40 hours; from the other some 200, in about the same time after the Vermifuge was given. I heartily recommend its use to all families, and I think once tried, no family will ever be without it.

Rubefacient.

PITTSBURGH, December 5th, 1844.—Messrs. B. A. Fahnestock & Co.—Gentlemen: I had the misfortune, day before yesterday to have my left thumb caught in a windlass, by which it was severely mashed and bruised. The pain was intense, and the thumb was swelled almost to bursting. I could sleep none the night following, from the agony I suffered. Yesterday I called at your store to see if I could procure any thing that would afford relief. Your young man recommended the Rubefacient, and gave me a bottle; I applied some immediately, and in about an hour afterwards, I obtained complete relief.—The swelling subsided, and the pain ceased entirely, and has not since returned. My sleep last night was sound and undisturbed. I still continue the use of it, and shall till the thumb recovers its former strength. I strongly recommend the Rubefacient as a valuable remedy for bruises

International Copy-Right.

This matter is constantly receiving a portion of attention from various publications in Magazines or Journals. In truth, it has a more extended influence upon our national prosperity, than might, at first, be imagined.

By the existing laws of our country, books first printed and published in foreign countries, cannot be secured to the authors or proprietors by copy-right in the United States. The consequence is, that American publishers, daily receive from other countries, works of all kinds, and put them to press in a cheap form, and furnish the American public with libraries, containing works on a multitude of subjects, at comparatively a small cost. All this seems to be very right; for there should be no tax on knowledge and improvement, and this freeness of information, leads to general intelligence and virtue. Such is the argument of persons, opposed to an international copy-right. And they further allege that, in regard to our own country, the impropriety of such a copy-right would be further apparent from this fact, that very few books are written by American authors, compared with the vast numbers that are issued from the British and other foreign presses, and therefore the advantage of the international copy-right, would, in the present state of literature, be wholly on the side of foreigners.

In answer to these views, it is replied, that the security of a copy-right is not a tax upon knowledge and improvement, but a protection and encouragement of them. Certainly each man has as much right of property in the manufactures of his brain, as in the fabrics of his hand. If a man invents a mechanical machine, is he not secured by copy-right, called, indeed, by another name, a patent; and if he invents a poem or composes a history, or a system of new and useful philosophy, should he not be protected by a copy-right, securing to him the book written by himself? Knowledge communicated, cannot afterwards be restrained, but it penetrates through the world, like light from the Sun; yet although persons may and must receive light from others, in a multitude of ways, which should not and cannot be restrained, still the exclusive right to the printing and publishing of the book, for a limited time, in justice, belongs to the author or literary inventor, as in cases of patents for new and useful discoveries.

Rich men spend their time in pleasure, and do not write useful books, which require hard study, laborious research and toil both through the day and in the night, sapping the foundations of health and undermining the constitution. This literary labor devolves mostly upon poor men, who cannot afford to lose not only their time, but the large sums of money necessary for getting out a new book; and unless they are protected by copy-right, they sink under the burden and poverty of their employments.

But what, it may be asked, have these considerations to do with American authors, who are already secured by the laws of our Congress granting them copy-rights? It is solely the foreign author, who is not protected by an American copy-right; but yet, he also is protected in his own country, and so no injustice is done to any one!

This is a very short sighted view of the case; for, in fact, it is the American author, who is really not protected, and it is in relation to him that we speak, and not with a view to the benefit of foreigners, however much a liberal spirit of justice should also regard their rights.

When publishers can get books from the other side of the Atlantic, without any charge or cost at all, will they pay American authors for their works? If an American writes a book, he must print and sell it at a rate to compete with foreign works re-printed in this country; and the cost of them, is reduced to the reasonable charges for the labors of the printers and book binders, and a profit to the publisher or Bookseller, without any compensation to the author, whose work is had for nothing.

This want of protection to American literature is a national evil of great magnitude. For if Americans were not over-run by importations from abroad, many more men in the United States, competent to elevate the reputation of their country and render essential good to mankind, would devote their time to authorship. But now it is impossible for them to do so: as they must bestow their labors for nothing. The improvement of the powers of the National Mind or intelligence, requires as much training and exercise as the advances in any other art or employment.

It may be said that distinguished American authors will always find purchasers at high rates for their works. We grant the truth of this. But how will American Authors become able and distinguished, without first passing through the preparations and initiatory stages of a beginning and a growth, as all other artists and great men? Distinguished men do not begin their literary life distinguished; but oftentimes under much depression and obloquy. And besides, our literary system ought to be one that would encourage the Nation to exert and advance the National intelligence to the highest grade, even if it were now in a state not so exalted as we desire.

Another evil arising from the flood of foreign works, re-printed and circulated in this country, is of an alarming character. As American Publishers and Booksellers cannot afford to buy the works of American authors, when foreign compositions can be had for nothing, they re-print and publish the literature of foreign countries, which inculcates systems of morals, infidelity and vice very prejudicial to the young minds which feed upon this kind of food, all through the United States. The Governments and Society of Great Britain, France and Germany are no less different from those of this country, than their morals and vices; and yet it is evident that the Tales, Romances and Philosophical notions imported from abroad and retailed in the cheapest form, under the advantages to Booksellers and Publishers which arise from the absence of an international copy-right, are doing much injury to the American public.

We have no thought that any thing will, at this time, be done by Congress on this subject, but we have thought proper to throw out these reflections for consideration.

Texas Productions.

The editor of the Galveston News, who has recently travelled through that part of Texas bordering on the coast, between Galveston and Matagordo, extending from 50 to 400 miles interior, and including Austin's Bayou, Oyster Creek, the Brazos, Bernard, Old Caney, Beach Creek, and the Colorado, says that the cotton crop in the greater part of that region is much superior to any he ever saw in the United States, and he believes will yield from 1500 to 4000 pounds to the acre. The sugar crop, he says, is now generally made. I have seen but two or three sugar plantations, and upon these the yield is very little short of 1000 pounds to the acre, besides the usual proportion of molassess. Mr. Sweeney on the Bernard, has about seventy acres in cane, and has already made nearly that number of hogsheads of sugar, decidedly superior to the ordinaro New Orleans qualities. Some of it will probably be exhibited in the Galveston market, and will speak for itself."

Law Intelligence.

[REPORTED FOR THE COMMERCIAL JOURNAL.]

In the Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, before the Hon. Benj. Patton, Prest. Judge, and Porter and Kerr Associates.
Commonwealth vs. George Koenig.

Two indictments were found against the defendant at October Term, 1845; one for Malicious mischief, in cutting, barking and damaging eighteen apple trees of the property of John Stewart, in the orchard of said Stewart, adjoining his dwelling, in Indiana township, Allegheny County, and the other, for putting filth in the well of Mr Stewart, and defiling the waters.

These cases were, by consent of the parties, tried in Nov. 1845, by one jury, and the verdict was that the defendant was not guilty, but he was directed by the jury to pay the costs of prosecution. Mr. Mahon, the counsel for the defendant, thereupon entered a motion for a new trial, on various grounds, one of his reasons being that the verdict "not guilty, and that the defendant should pay the costs," was a violation of constitutional right; but another reason offered by him was, that new evidence had been made known to defendant, which, if it had been laid before the jury, would have prevented the direction that the defendant should pay the costs. On the 19th Nov. the Court, on hearing, granted a new trial.

Jan. 12, 1846, these two cases again by consent, came before one jury.

It appears that six months, or thereabouts, ago, Mr. Stewart, the prosecutor, had prosecuted Koenig, the defendant, for keeping a tippling and gambling house; but the bill was ignored.

After that, these malicious mischiefs were committed by some person, on the property of Mr. Stewart; and there was testimony to prove that they were done by the defendant.

Both the prosecutor and the defendant are respectable looking men.

The cause was tried with much ability and energy by the counsel on both sides.

Judge Patton charged the jury favorably for defendant. Alden and McMahon for Commonwealth, Mahon and Callan for defendant.

The cause was commenced last Monday, the 12th inst., and on the 14th the jury was charged; they were out all night, and have not yet agreed.

In the Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County, before the same Judges.
Commonwealth, vs. Joseph H. Scott & Thomas M'Giffin.

The Indictment charges the defendants with being accessory before the fact, to the burglary of the house of Joseph Carothers.

The defendants were police officers in Allegheny city. The indictment was tried at June term, last year, and the defendants were convicted.

On the 2d July 1845, reasons for a new trial and in arrest of judgement were filed.

The only witness to inculpate the defendants directly in this offence, was Jonathan Stubbs one of the principle felons; but he was corroborated in material circumstances, by other witnesses who were free from objection.

The reasons for a new trial, allege that the Court misdirected the Jury, and that some of the Jury conversed with the witnesses and other persons interested in behalf of the prosecution, in relation to the cause, during the pendency of the trial: also that illegal and improper testimony was admitted, and that Jonathan Stubbs, the principal felon, was admitted to give evidence against the alleged accessories.

In arrest of judgment, the reason assigned was that the principals and accessories were joined in the same indictment, and the accessories were tried without any previous arraignment, trial and conviction of the principals.

The council for the defendants also produced an ex parte affidavit of one Solomon Arthurs, testifying that Jonathan Stubbs had, since the trial, admitted to him that M'Giffin never advised him to do any thing of the kind.

The argument commenced yesterday afternoon.

T. J. Fox Alden argued the case on the part of Scott, and Thomas Williams for M'Giffin. Magraw replied, stating that Fulton, one of the principals, was previously convicted, and Stubbs, on his trial, had pleaded guilty, and that the indictment against the present defendants, as accessories, contains the name of Stubbs only as inducement in order to set forth the nature of the offence; but does not charge him as a co-defendant.

Shaler and Loomis will address the Court this morning.

Loomis, Williams, and Alden, for defendants; Magraw, Hampton, and Shaler for Com'th.

Anecdotes of Washington and Morris.

Among the interesting anecdotes related to us most graphically and feelingly, of Washington, by Mr. Custis, when in the city lately, was one on the landing of the General at Whitehall, when he was about to be sworn as President of the United States. As the General was stepping on shore from the vessel, he was addressed by an American officer, with "Sir, I have the honor to command a guard of soldiers to escort you to your residence, and also on any other occasion you may desire." "A guard!—a guard for me!" exclaimed Washington, rising in his stature, and quite overlooking the guard of some fifty soldiers, "Why, Sir, I need no guard. I ask for no other guard than the affections of my countrymen!" Whereupon, with a significant wave of his hand, his guard fell into the rear. Mr. Custis says this anecdote was frequently related, among others, by John Carroll, who was then with the General, and heard the remark of Washington's tending to show that he was a great and good man, and one worthy the affections of the people, this alone would satisfy him, as it should all others, of the fact.

Another anecdote related to us by M. Cu t's was this:—When Washington had marched his army as far as Elk River, on his way to Yorktown, Virginia, to attack Lord Cornwallis, the soldiers, then long without their pay and greatly fatigued, requested their arrearages; and as paper money was of little value to them, they desired it in silver. This was an alarming difficulty with Washington at this crisis: for he knew full well that his soldiers should have their pay, and yet he was extremely anxious to reach Yorktown with his troops as soon as possible, lest Lord Cornwallis should escape with his forces, which Washington had so confidently hoped to capture. In this dilemma he immediately called to him Robert Morris, to whom he related in confidence and with much feeling the particulars of the case, and the prospective consequences, should it be found impossible to raise the money. Mr. Morris, who as it is well known, was a financier, as well as true patriot and honest man, saw at once the difficulty and its probable consequences; and, bethinking himself for a moment, he said, "Ah, I have it General, I'll obtain the money."

The French fleet lay far below in the bay, yet thither Mr. Morris immediately pursued his way. Addressing himself to the Count, under whose command the fleet was, he represented that anticipated funds from the Government for the payment of the troops not having arrived in season, it became necessary to pay them before reaching the battle ground, where success was certain for the combined French and American forces; therefore, he would take the liberty of asking him—as a tried friend of the cause of freedom—for an accommodation for the present, and that he himself would be responsible for the amount if required, etc.—This was done with so much address, and at the same time with so much truth and confidence, that it produced the desired effect.

The Count readily and very politely proffered the requisite sum of silver; and proceeding himself to his iron chest, took it out in crowns done up in parcels, and delivered it to Mr. Morris; who, thereupon, proceeded with a light heart to the American camp, and to the no less joy of Washington and his brave but suffering army. The army, it is well known, proved successful, and perhaps, this circumstance contributed in a great measure to that result.

There were two or three anecdotes of Robert Morris, told by Mr. Curtis, which showed that he was one of the most important men, if not next to Washington himself, in the happy results of the revolution; and Washington ever esteemed him as such. In this connection, Mr. G. related, most touchingly, the visit of Washington to the jail in Walnut street, Philadelphia, (where Mr. Morris was afterwards confined for debt!) on his arrival in that city. The interview was indescribably affecting, and so also was a visit subsequently paid by Mr. Curtis to Mr. Morris, when Mr. M. was near his death. But what rendered these last anecdotes more interesting on this occasion, was the fact that they were addressed to a group of gentleman one of whom was the venerable son of Robert Morris, and a resident of our city.

Railroad Convention.

HARRISBURGH, Jan'y 12, 1846.

R. M. RIDDLE:—

Dear Sir: Our Railroad Convention organized in the Court House, this afternoon at 3 o'clock, by calling F. A. Watts, Esq., of Carlisle, to the Chair. Col. Wm Robinson of Allegheny, moved the appointment of a Committee, to select officers for the Convention. The Committee retired for a few moments, and announced Gen J. K. Moorehead of Allegheny as President of the Convention, with a number of Vice Presidents, one from each County represented—which is most of the Middle and Western Counties. Hon. Judge Black of Somerset, moved the Committee on resolutions, which was also one member from each county represented; said Committee will report to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock. The Philadelphians declined sending delegates, so also, did most of the Eastern Counties. Our prospects for our favorite route, to me, look favorable, although there are many influential men that seem to oppose us. I am informed, that a number of delegates along the middle route, refuse also to go into Convention, and it is said have organized at Col. Hew's Hotel and appointed Hon. James Criswell of Mifflin, Chairman, to meet also in Convention to-morrow. The Convention have adopted the rules of the House, with the exception of restricting the speakers to 20 minutes the first speech, and 10 minutes for the second. I hope the Legislature will also see the propriety of adopting the same rules, and do up this business and adjourn, as from the Message of the Governor, funds will be rather scarce about the usual adjourning time. Every General and Colonel in the State are here; a Major has no place about Harrisburgh. Since my arrival, the weather here is very pleasant.

YOURS, FOR THE RIGHT OF WAY.

From the N. O. Picayune.

Albert J. Tirrel.

We have received a letter from this person, who is still confined in our parish prison upon the charge of murdering Maria A. Bickford, relative to a statement made in regard to him in the Picayune shortly after his arrest. As we have no desire to prejudge his case, or render his situation more irksome than it is, we publish the letter. At the same time we must assert that we received the information, from those who should have known the circumstances, that he had attempted to commit suicide on the way up to the city, and that the officers who arrested him not only felt it their duty to watch him closely, but by personal restraint prevent him from repeating the attempt, and that when first imprisoned he was moody, silent, and took but little notice of any thing. Here is the letter:

PARISH PRISON, Jan. 2, 1846.

Messrs. Editors—I was somewhat surprised on seeing in the New York Herald of the 19th of December, a paragraph purporting to be copied from your paper, in which it states that since my arrest I had maintained the most gloomy silence, and scarcely answering the officers who have occasion to address me, and that I pass the whole day in a most lethargic state, and that from my whole conduct there is little doubt but that I will snatch the first opportunity to commit suicide; that the officers are compelled to watch me or place me under such restraint that it would be impossible for me to destroy myself. Now, gentlemen, every word of this is false, and whoever your informers were, they are much mistaken. I know my innocence of the charge for which I am arrested, and feel conscious (in spite of the singularity of my conduct in changing my name and leaving my home about the time this tragedy took place) of an acquittal by a jury of my countrymen, and until that time arrives, and the evidence pro and con is heard, I think that common humanity demands a suspension of public opinion. It is true that I am sometimes silent—melancholy; but wh t man who has any feeling about him would not be, were he in my situation—accused of a base and heinous crime, one at which every heart revolts—my name blazoned forth by the public prints throughout the civilized world, and the brand of "murderer" attached to it!—ere a common preliminary examination has taken place in the matter—ere I know who my accusers are, or what they say against me,—and I alone not the sufferer. No—would to God I was! but I am compelled to know that my aged and widowed mother, my wife, sister and brother, and other relatives, must suffer much from this accusation being brought against me. But as to my scarcely answering when spoken to, I believe the subjoined certificates of the officers of the prison will show to the contrary: and hoping, gentlemen, you will have the kindness to give it a place in your paper as readily as you have done the other,

I subscribe myself your obedient servant,
ALBERT J. TIRRELL.

To the Editors of the N. O. Picayune.

Following this is a statement from the keeper of the prison, confirming the truth of T.'s letter, and also stating that he is under no other restraint than that imposed on every inmate of the prison. It is further stated, that he has not acted in any way, nor at any time, in a manner to induce the belief that he intended to commit suicide. Here we leave this matter.

Scraps of Curious Information.

RAILROADS.

In a former number it was stated that the first steam carriage, of which any record can be found, was constructed by Theophilus Cugnot, at Paris, 1770. This is positively affirmed by several different authors,—notwithstanding which, it is as positively asserted, by as many others, that the honor of first applying steam, as a motive power, for carriages, belongs of right, to Oliver Evans, an American. He first conceived the idea in 1785,—but upon announcing his invention to the public, he was supposed to be insane, and narrowly escaped a lunatic asylum!

For this reason he was discouraged from making any experiments until 1804, when he built a scow or flat boat, weighing about 20 tons, at the distance of a mile and a half from the water, for the purpose of cleansing blocks, &c. In this vessel he placed a steam engine of only five horse power, and when all was ready he put wheels under the boat, and by steam transported it to, and launched it into the Schuylkill river. With a paddle wheel he navigated it down the Schuylkill, and up the river to Philadelphia—passing all the vessels on the river—with the wind ahead.

In 1812, Evans said, "I verily believe that the time will come when carriages, propelled by steam, will be in general use, as well for the transportation of passengers as goods, travelling at the rate of at least 15 miles an hour, or 300 a day."

The corner stone (as it was then styled) of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was laid by Charles Carroll, of Carrolton, attended by 70,000 persons, with great ceremony, on the 4th of July, 1828.—After the ceremony of laying the corner stone, a procession was formed, consisting of all the different associations, and having representatives of all the different trades, with delegates from other states, and passed through all the streets in Baltimore.—The first section (13 miles) of this road was not completed till May, 1830. The following paragraph speaks of the event in a tone which at the present day sounds rather odd. It is from Niles' Weekly Register of May 15, 1830.

"The Baltimore & Ohio railroad will be travelled in wagons, 13 miles to Ellicott's upper mills, in a day or two, at the rate of at least ten miles an hour.—Tens of thousands will embrace this opportunity of seeing the noblest work yet attempted in the U. States, of traveling 26 miles in 2½ hours! without danger or fatigue, enjoying fresh air, fine scenery, &c., &c.

From January 1st to July 1st, 1831, 41,435 persons passed over the road. The second division of 12 miles, was completed in June, 1831: and the third division, to the Point of Rocks, being 70 miles from Baltimore, was opened for public travel on the 20th of April, 1832, and it was at that time thought to be a wonderful feat to go this distance and back in 17 hours.

British Preparations for War.

The following is an extract of a letter from London published in the Quebec Gazette. It is thus in all respects British authority:

"I have the very best means of knowing that our Government is perfectly easy as to the result of the negociations upon the Oregon question. If war comes, why let it. In six months there would not be a single United States vessel to be seen on the ocean. A registration has just been completed of all steamers belonging to the ports of the United Kingdom; capable of being fitted up and employed for the purposes of war.

I was shown the document in confidence, and cannot at present give the result, but an old capt. who was deputed to forward the returns for the Steam Company he was employed in, made this remark—"What, so many of 'em fit for war! why, stem and stern 'em, and they'd reach from here to the Bay of Biscay!" This, perhaps, is an exaggeration—but if the Republic should bark, let its rulers be most fully assured that Great Britain is prepared to bite. In three months we should have equipped a fleet of steamers, ex the Royal Navy, that would crush the American trade with foreign ports, and the Northern and Southern States would be left to settle the old bone of contention between themselves. The Souteners with all their faults, are as a body understood to be in favor of the continuance of peace."

Twenty-ninth Congress.

FIRST SESSION.

From the Baltimore Sun.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.

SENATE.

After the disposal of some unimportant business on motion of Mr. Allen, the committee on foreign relations were discharged from further consideration of all memorials asking Congress to recognise the independence of the colony of Liberia.

Notice was given by Mr. Bagby, of a bill to amend the constitution relating to the election of President and Vice President.

Mr. Turney introduced a bill for a national armory on Tennessee River.

Mr. Allen gave notice of a joint resolution declaratory of the principles by which this country will be governed with regard to the inteference of foreign powers with the independent government of America.

A number of documents from the Washington Monument Society were presented and referred to the District Committee.

Several private and local bills having been passed over informally, the Senate held a short executive session and then adjourned-

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The morning hour was occupied by the reception of reports from committees, and the adoption of various resolutions of inquiry.

Mr. Holmes, from the naval committee, reported a bill providing for the purchase of the patent right to Mix's manger stopper for vessels of war. It apporpriates $5,000 for the benefit of the widow, in whom the right is now vested.

A resolution was adopted directing an inquiry into the expediency of erecting various marine hospitals in different parts of the Union.

A resolution was also adopted directing an inquiry into the expediency of erecting a national armory on the Western waters.

Resolutions were likewise introduced directing an enquiry into the expediency of altering the structure of the Hall of the House, also to consider the propriety of reporting a bill to diminish the influence of the patronage of the Executive of the United States.

A resolution was offered enacting that in future the Reporters shall be furnished with a copy of all public documents which are supplied to members. Objection being made, the resolution lies over.—The objection was, to say the least, very illiberal.

A very stormy scene took place upon a resolution providing that the extra copies of Freemont's report relative to Oregon, printed for the use of the members at the last session, be distributed among the members of the present session. About twenty members wished to talk at once. After an ineffectual attempt to lay the whole matter on the table, the resolution was agreed to.

Resolutions were offered and laid over, declaring that the principle of rotation in office is a glorious one and that no office holder ought to remain in office more than eight years.

A resolution was also offered and laid over, calling on the President to state, if not incompatible with the public interest, whether negotiation relative to Oregon has been entirely supended.

A great number of other resolutions of all lengths sorts and sizes, was also presented and laid over.

Mr. Giles presented the petition of James H. Causten praying for arrears of pensions due deceased; referred to the committee on invalid pensions.

At a late hour the House adjourned.

Correspondence of the Baltimore American.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13, 1846.

A report has gained some currency here to-day that the Mexican Government has refused to accept Mr. Slidell as an accredited Minister from the United States—from whence it came I know not, neither do I vouch for the correctness of the report.

An old tenement in 2d street near Chesnut, known in Watson's Annals of Philadelphia as the Williams House, was partially destroyed by fire last evening about 9½ o'clock.

Business is very inactive. In Flour there was nothing done, holders of standard brands continue to ask $5,37½, common and fair shipping brands may be quoted at $5,31¼@$5,37½; 325 bbls.—Brandywine Corn Meal changed hands on private terms; a lot of mixed white and red Wheat sold at 113 cents from store; some 4 to 5,000 bushels of Southern yellow Corn, for shipment, sold at 39@40 cents; about 150 hhds. New Orleans Sugar sold at 5¾@6¼c cents, and Molasses, in bbls., at 26 cents; 4,000 gallons Linseed Oil to go out of the market at 62½ cents; Cloverseed is steady at $6,74, and prime at $6.

There was a slight improvement in Stocks. Pennsylvania 5's fell off about $15,000 of which sold at 66@66¼c&p; $3,000 Reading Railroad Bonds at 67¾@67: Wilmington Railroad closed at 27¾@28¼.

An appropriate and beautiful Present.

Last summer, a mechanic of Charlestown, says the Boston Times, (our neighbor town over the water) by the name of Samuel Teague, was in the city of Brooklyn, N. Y., engaged in his business of engineer, and while at work in the vicinity of the Atlantic Dry Dock, was alarmed by the report, that a little boy, aged 8 years, had jumped into the water and was drowning. He rushed to the spot, and found that the little fellow who had attempted to follow an elder brother in swimming across the dock, and that, too, when he was unable to swim at all, had sunk for the last time.—Some twenty or thirty persons stood around, as though paralyzed, and put forth no exertions to save the little sufferer. Mr. Teague, on the spot being pointed out to him where the boy had sunk, jumped into the water immediately, and on diving, fortunately put his hands upon the body and swam with it to the wharf. After a long trial at resuscitation, the little fellow gave symptoms of vitality, and Mr. Teague conveyed him to his home—where his father, a merchant of Brooklyn, lay sick, and the mother also in an exceedingly delicate situation. Doubtless, the lives of the parents were saved by this rescue of their child. Money was offered to Mr. Teague, but he refused all remuneration.

On New Year's day, as he returned to his home in Charlestown, he found that a large and splendidly bound family Bible, worth some $60 or $70 (in money value) had been left at his house by Harnden & Co.'s Express. It was of the Oxford (English) edition, with massive golden clasps, the paper and typography being of the highest order. The following was the appropriate inscription on one of its blank leaves:

"Presented by Harry Messenger, to Samuel Teague, in Token of a Parent's Gratitude for the rescue of a beloved child from drowning at the Atlantic Dock, Brooklyn, N. Y., on the 26th of August, 1845.

"May the hand which delivered a drowning Peter protect you constantly through all the dangers of life, and finally rescue you from the waves of Eternal Wrath."

We would add that a faithful portrait of the rescued boy accompanied this beautiful copy of the Bible.

☞ The Montreal Pilot, in the course of a paragraph on the aspects of the Oregon controversy, thus speaks of the attitude and course of the American government:—

"Nothing has yet taken place to prevent an amicable termination of the controversy, and notwithstanding all the abuse heaped on the American Government by ignorant and prejudiced persons, it must be evident to all who have read the able papers of Mr. Calhoun and Mr. Buchanan, that they advance a very strong claim to the Oregon territory, and that by offering to divide it, they have evinced anything but a desire for war."

Died.

In Allegheny City, on the evening of the 14th of January, JOHN GRAY, son of H. A. and M. A. Johnson, aged 17 months and 14 days.

On Thursday morning, 15th, after a short, but severe illness, JAMES JENNINGS, in the 26th year of his age.

The friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend his funeral at 10½ o'clock, this morning, from the residence of his father. Peter Jennings, Allegheny City.

OFFICE OF THE GLOBE UNION AGENCY—A public Treasurer Wanted.—A man is wanted to assume the responsibilities and perform the duties of a public Treasurer. He will have to take charge of the revenues of the Agency in particular, and of all moneys that may be deposited by the public in general. The Treasury will be opened in the city of Louisville, and will necessarily have at least three branches in each State, and will sustain a direct relationship with public Treasuries in various other nations. The Board of Directors that will be provided for the purpose, will be found fully competent to direct the operation of the Treasury in a manner that cannot fail to procure public confidence.
Applications for this highly important and profitable situation will be received from all parts of the remote States. The man who furnishes the largest amount of personal security will be appointed, with the salary that a majority of the Directors may agree upon.
Applications (post paid) addressed to the Directors of the Globe Union Agency, will be received until the 1st day of March, and will then be decided upon by an impartial committee, appointed for the purpose. WM. COWDEN.
jan14-d&w4w Agent General for the Directors.

The Original, only true, and genuine Pill.
FINDLAY TOWNSHIP, Allegheny Co, July 2d, 1838.
Messrs Shinn & Sellers—I feel it a duty I owe to the public and the standing of your celebrated Pills, to testify to the good effects produced by them in my own case. In the fall of 1837, I was attacked severely with the Chronic Liver Complaint, which prostrated all my physical powers. I applied to Dr. ———, of Clinton, for medical advice, and although he essayed every thing in his power to mitigate my disease, yet I must honestly say, that I received no permanent relief under his treatment. At this time I considered my case hopeless, when seeing your Liver Pills advertised, I, after a good deal of hesitation, (being urged to try them by my neighbors,) purchased two boxes, and before I had used one whole box, the pain in my side and shoulders, produced by a diseased Liver, was speedily removed. I continued using the Pills at intervals, upon every return of my symptoms, with invariable success. It is my opinion that the Liver Pills will not fail to cure, when the directions are strictly followed. You are at liberty to make any use of the above that you may think proper. I remain your grateful friend.
SAMUEL P. MORRISON.
N. B. The Liver Pills are much relied upon in bilious attacks in my immediate neighborhood.

THE GIRARD LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY AND TRUST COMPANY of Philadelphia. Chartered in 1836—Charter Perpetual;—Capital, $300,000—BENJAMIN W. RICHARDS, President:—Continues to make insurance on lives, grant annuities and endowments, and accept trusts from individuals, corporate bodies, and courts of justice, and execute them agreeably to the desire of the parties, and receive deposites of money in trust or on interest.
The Company add a bonus at stated periods to the insurance for life, and on the 20th of January last, an addition was made to all policies for life, remaining in force and issued prior to January 1st, 1842, amounting to 10 per cent. on the sum insured in policies issued in 1837, 7½ per cent. on policies issued in 1838, and in rateable proportions according to their respective dates.
The chief object of an insurance for life is to provide a sum of money at the death of the party insured, for the benefit of a widow, children, friends or creditors; and it will be seen on an examination of the table of rates of the life insurance, which will be furnished by the subscriber to all who may feel an interest in the subject, that by paying a small sum to the office every year during his life, a person may secure to his family a very considerable amount at his decease.
Wherever the system of Life Insurance is properly understood, it is extensively adopted, and its great advantages to all, but more especially to those who depend on their own exertions for the support of their families, or who may be desirous to secure the payment of a sum of money to their friends, creditors or children, at their decease, which they might be otherwise unable to accomplish, that the operation of the system needs but to be explained to ensure the serious consideration of the public.
In several instances it has happened that the party insured has died shortly after, having paid only one or two instalments of the premium, when his family have received from this office the full amount for which he had insured.
Full information on this important subject may be obtained by applying, personally, or by letter (post-paid) at the office of the subscriber, the authorised agent of the Girard Life Insurance Company.

A Stubborn Fact in Mesmerism!
Statement of Mrs. Spence.
☞ I had been suffering for about five weeks from what is termed the "Milk Leg," and during that time experienced much pain, and was considered in a very low and critical situation. It had been lanced twice by the attending physician, causing me great pain, and affording me no improvement or relief. Before it was to be lanced for the third time, and with the hope of mitigating the agony of that operation, I was induced by a friend to submit myself to be magnetized previous to the application of the lancet. For this purpose, Mr. P. A. Westervelt visited me, and mesmerized me. After the first essay, I was so much relieved as to be able to enjoy a good sleep, which I had not previously done for a long time. By the repetition of the manipulations, I became so much relieved from pain, that I concluded not to undergo a third surgical operation, and persisted in the mesmeric treatment until the disease dissipated itself by a copious discharge, through the previously lanced places, resulting in a perfect cure. It is proper to say that after the first application of mesmerism, I discontinued the use of medicine altogether, and trusted alone to the manipulations. At the time the mesmeric treatment was commenced, I was unable to stand or even to change my position in bed, without much suffering. In three weeks after the commencement of this treatment, I was able to walk about the streets without difficulty.

City of Pittsburgh, ss.
Before me, an Alderman in and for said city, personally came M. E. Spence, who being duly affirmed, sayeth: that the facts set forth in the foregoing statement is just and true to the best of her knowledge, and belief.

Affirmed and subscribed, this 27th day of October, 1845.
R. MORROW.
☞ The public are here presented with a regularly authenticated testimonial of the cure of a disease, which has in numerous instances, baffled the skill of the medical faculty, and entailed helplessness and suffering on its unhappy subjects; a cure too, be it remembered, whose prominent feature is, by its action in all cases, to subdue pain—never to produce it. I am in possession of certificates from individuals who have been restored to health under my hands, from indisposition of many years standing. Those testimonials will be made public in due time, and in the mean while may be seen at my residence. Among the disorders cured, may be mentioned—Epilepsy, Flow of the Blood to the Head, Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Nervous Tremblings, &c.

LIFE AND HEALTH.—This gift is the greatest blessing bestowed on man. But while we are inhabitants of this sinful and troublesome world, we are compelled to meet sickness and pain, and even death. All-wise Providence has given us in the vegetable kingdom certain remedies which, when extracted with science, will arrest disease in its infancy, and prolong life for a season. The fact that so many persons are daily dying of that dreadful disease, Consumption, should at once awaken those who are but slightly affected, to a sense of duty they owe to themselves, and procure a few bottles of Dr. Duncan's Expectorant Remedy, and use it immediately according to the directions, whereby your life may be spared and many years spent in Life, Health and Happiness. Call early at Dr. Duncan's Western Office, 150 Sycamore street, a few doors below Fifth, where his medicine and advice may be found.

The "Pride of the West."

Captain John H. Chambers, formerly of the Mary Tompkins, is building a new steamboat at Cincinnati. He thinks her pretty enough to warrant the fanciful name of "Pride of the West."—Her dimensions are thus set down:

"Her length of keel is 185 feet; extreme length, 234 feet; 29 feet beam; 27 floor; 6 feet 10 inches hold; two engines, 8 feet stroke; 22 inches diameter of cylinder;—diameter of wheel 26 feet, and works 12½ feet bucket; measurement, 371 tons, and I think will carry 600 tons with ease—has 34 state rooms in her cabin, in the arrangement of which I have spared nothing that will contribute to the comfort of passengers."—St. Louis Republican.

☞ The owners of the Tow-boat Traveller. are building a new hull at Walker's Ship yard.

☞ Captain Baily formerly of the Steamer R. Clayton, is building a new Boat at Elizabeth.

☞ Captain J. Poe formerly of the Belfast, is building a new side wheel Boat.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Jan. 1st, 1846.

CAPT. W. EVANS: Dear Sir—On the 22d Nov., I started the steamboat Herald, from Pittsburgh for St. Louis, in charge of Capt. E. Gray, I being unable to leave home on account of sickness in my family. I left home on the 2d Dec., expecting to meet her at Cincinnati; she was froze up on the steamboat New Hampshire at "Kates' Rock," went back to Wheeling and took Stage for Cincinnati; there I heard of the Herald being up above Selma; however, on Tuesday, the 16th, I learned from the officers of the steam boat Brunette, just in from this place, that the Herald was aground at Powers Island. I left the mail boat for Louisville, where I took passage on the Mountaineer for Cairo, on Thursday 18th; it turned cold, and by 12 o'clock at night, the ice was so heavy the boat was obliged to come too and make a harbor; we lay there until Tuesday following, when the weather moderated a little, and we proceeded and reached Cairo, on 26th. On Monday 29th, I succeeded in hiring a conveyance to this place, which I reached on the 30th inst., four weeks from the time I left home.

I found the boat here in a pretty good harbor. On Tuesday, the 2d Dec., the Herald got aground, the weather turned very cold, and the ice made fast and running, so that no lighter could be obtained, Capt. Gray, (after some consultation with Captains of other boats then there) proceeded to throw over 130 bbls. Salt, thinking by that means to lighten the boat, not knowing that if the weather continued cold, boat, cargo and all, would be cut to pieces by the ice. About that time however, the ice gorged above and ceased running so heavy; the water fell away from the boat, and left her "light water mark" above water, when the ice stopped running, he got lighters and took her cargo all out, which was a very slow operation. The water being then so low round the boat, they could only take a few tons at a time, and had to beat it about 300 yards; however, by hard work they succeeded in getting off on the 17th, got in to shore and got the Salt all on board again by the evening of the 19th, and then proceeded to find a harbor. Our freight has not sustained any material damage by the operation, except the wetting of some iron. The loss of the salt and expense of lighting off, will be the principal loss, on an average—the loss of property compared with the suffering by Hunger and Cold (among the German Emigrants especially) is small. There were two other boats aground there at the same time, and they are there still, for it is impossible to get them afloat if all their cargo was out. The Herald being so much lighter draught gave her some advantage over them in lighting off.

This place, Cairo, and the country round is filled with "Dutch." Stables, Sheds, Houses, and some even dig holes in the ground when they get ashore and cover themselves over with with weeds, corn stalks, &c. Several have died from exposure and hunger, those on the Olive Branch were 4 days without food (the ice running so that they could not get ashore,) when they were taken off by the Herald; when the Herald went alongside and they got aboard of her, they fought over the starch barrel, gathered up the grains of corn where the horses had been feeding and eat them. Those who have never been surrounded by heavy floating ice may think it strange, but although the Commerce was only 2 miles above them, where there was plenty of Beef and Corn Meal, not one could get ashore to inform the citizens of their distress. It has been running since yesterday, and I hope the River will break up and let us to St. Louis in a few days.

Mr. C—— wrote to Mr. D. H——, informing him of our whereabouts and as the day was wet and dull, I have put in part of it in writing this scribble to you, as you may frequently be asked for news. The Independance, Congress, Iatan, Herald are all here—the Swift-sure, John Aul, Hibernia, Iowa, No. 2, and three or four others went up to Tower Island—the gorge is at Duncan's Bar. Yours, &c.

W. D——.

P. S. The ice, today, in the eddies and along the shore is fast disappearing with a strong South wind. I will write to Mr. D. H—— in a few days. The water has been rising and falling for several days, owing, I suppose to the ice above, thawing and freezing again. W. D.

Imports by the River.

BEAVER—Per Laura: 10 doz brooms, 13 bbls butter, 105 bxs cheese, 24 kegs lard.

WHEELING—Per Belmont: 200 bbls flour, 44 sks oats, 2 bxs jeans, 46½ doz brooms, 26 bbls copperas, 2 bbls flax seed, 15 bbls and 13 sacks clover seed, 112 kegs lard, 100 head cabbage, 17 sacks corn, 1 bbl apples, 1 sack feathers, 7 kegs butter.

WHEELING—Per Rhode Island: 562 bbls flour. 140 sacks oats, 19 bbls copperas, 6 kegs lard, 42 pcs iron, 5 kegs nails, 30 dozen brooms, 13 sacks bran,

WELLSVILLE—Per Harlem: 107 sacks barley, 14 kegs butter, 991 pcs bulk pork, 37 kegs and 8 bbls lard, 5 bbls scorchings, 8 bales tanners' scraps, 2 bbls oil, 7 bbls clover seed, 15 bags oil meal, 1000 hoop poles.

Loss of the Schooner Van Buren.

The schooner Van Buren, Capt. Babcock, from Aransas Bay, bound to this port, was lost off Aransas Bay, on the 2nd inst. We learn from some of the passengers, who arrived yesterday from Galveston, that she had on board 26 passengers. No lives were lost.—N. O. Delta, Jan. 6.

Congressional Election.

An election for a member of Congress in the First District of Louisiana, to supply the place of the Hon. John Slidell, resigned, took place on the 5th. The candidates were all of the Democratic party—Mr. La Sere being the "regular nominee" and is doubtless elected.

☞ Advices from Corpus Christi to the 1st inst., furnishes no news of special importance. Sickness continued to prevail in the Army. Gen. Arista, with a force of 1800 men, was at Monterey. Mejia was still at Matamoras with a small force.

☞ Mr. Mooney, the Irish historian, has had complimentary dinner given to him, in Washington, by some of his countrymen, and a few others.

Thorn's Yeast Powders.

FOR arising buckwheat, flannel and other cakes.—These Powders are an admirable substitute for yeast, in making all kinds of batter cakes and bread, that do not require much kneading, and have the advantage over that article in making the latter perfectly light and ready for baking the instant they are mixed. Buckwheat and other cakes, when made with these powders, are less likely to disagree with the stomach than those made with yeast; are entirely free from any bitter or unpleasant taste; and as it requires but a few minutes to prepare for baking, the possibility of ever having them sour is avoided. They are used by many respectable families and physicians in the city, and highly approved of. I therefore confidently recommend them to the general use of families and hotel keepers, as being greatly superior to yeast, beside economizing of time and trouble. Prepared and sold by Valuable Real Estate for Sale.

THE undersigned will dispose of the following valuable Real Estate, viz—

THIRTY ACRES OF GROUND, having an extensive front on the South bank of the Monongahela, (our principal business river where all the steamers lie, and where the heavy business of the City is done,) being the West end of the Borough of Birmingham, laid out into 230 lots of 24 by 100 feet, for Residences, and 96 by 390 feet for Manufactories, fronting on 50 feet streets, and extending back to 20 feet alleys.

TEN ACRES similarly situated and laid out, adjoining the East end of Birmingham.

THIRTY ACRES OF COAL HILL LOTS, running from near the Bridge toward Birmingham, fronting on the two Turnpikes.

These are well known as the most advantageous locations about Pittsburgh, or in the world, for Manufacturing, inexhaustible mines of Coal of the richest and best quality, at hand, and furnished much cheaper than any other place about the City, and being nearly opposite the City Steamboat landing.

For Residences, also, there are no more beautiful, healthy, and convenient locations for those engaged in business in the City; but a few minutes ride or walk from the beautiful new Wire Suspension Bridge; some of the sites commanding fine views of the two Cities, three rivers and surrounding country.

We would prefer to selling, that Capitalists would join us in the erection of manufactories and other improvements. There is a stratum of Coal beneath the surface of 12 to 15 feet in thickness. A large body of the ground also is above the common level, and valuable for making Brick. It being a portion of an undivided estate for the past forty years, has thus been kept out of the market. Could the yearly applications to purchase have been accepted, it would long since have all been sold and compactly built up. It will be sold at less than other property as near the City in other directions, (and we particularly invite those interested to compare the prices,) notwithstanding its superior advantages, and must rapidly increase in value beyond other property, as every one can see from its great resources and advantageous location, presenting an object of the most certain and lucrative investment; for manufacturing the most advantageous, and for residences the most desirable, all of which is more fully set forth and confirmed, as well as other general information in regard to it and our city, in a pamphlet issued by us, and to be had of Booksellers in this and Eastern cities. If not disposed of previously, it will be sold either in whole or in part of either one of the plots, on Monday, the 25th day of May next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. Terms moderate.

Explosion of Steam Boilers.

EVANS' ALLOY SAFETY GUARD, and Evans' Metallic Expansion Safety Guard.—The subscriber respectfully informs the public that he has procured a Patent for his Metallic Expansion Safety Guard, and is now prepared to manufacture the same, as well as his well known Alloy Safety Guard, upon which he has also made an improvement.

Steam Boat owners and others can now make a choice of either of the two inventions, and procure them from the original inventor, without the expense or danger of litigation, which would certainly follow upon any infringement of his patents. He would respectfully invite the public to call at his office, and examine his inventions, which he will cheerfully explain by working models.

Thankful for past favors, he flatters himself that his long and unremitted exertions to the subject of preventing explosions will ensure him a continuance of public patronage.
C. EVANS.

FOR SAFETY

Travelers should select a Boat provided with Evans' Safety Guards, for preventing explosions of steam boilers. It would be well for the traveling community to bear in mind their security depends entirely upon their own encouragement of boats that have or may be at the expense of procuring the above apparatus. And that every individual making such selection is contributing towards a general introduction of an invention admitted by all men who understand the principles of the Steam Engine, to be a sure preventative against those dreadful disasters. This invention has been applied to upwards of 100 steamers, and travelers are cautioned against being deceived by men representing their boats as having Safety Guards, when they are not so secured against explosions. Examine the show bills and advertisements for correct information.

AGENCY OFFICE FOR PROCURING PATENTS REMOVED.

The subscriber has removed his Office and Safety Guard Factory to his residence in Penn street, near Water, where he will make draughts, write out specifications, and do all that is necessary to procure patents. He will also act at agent in introducing and disposing of new inventions.

Nervous Complaints.

And a variety of other diseases arising from impurities of the blood, and obstructions in the organs of digestion.

Experience has proved that nearly every disease to which the human frame is subject originates from Impurities of the Blood or Derangements of the Digestive Organs; and to secure Health we must remove those obstructions or restore blood to its natural state. This important fact has long been familiar to the world; but our natural aversion to medicine in any shape has hitherto determined us, in many cases, to prefer the disease to its cure. Now, however, the objection is effectually removed by CLICKENER'S PURGATIVE PILLS, which being completely enveloped with a coating of pure white sugar (as distinct from the internal ingredients as a nut shell from the kernel) have no taste of medicine, but are as easily swallowed as bits of candy. Moreover they neither nauseate or gripe in the slightest degree. This is occasioned by the fact that they are compounded on scientific principles and based on an intimate acquaintance with the origin of disease and the actual structure of the human system, which enables them to operate equally on all the diseased parts of the system. Thus, for example, if the Liver be affected, one ingredient will operate on that particular organ, and by cleansing it of that excess of bile it is constantly discharging into the stomach, restore it to its natural state. Another will operate on the blood, and remove those impurities which have already entered into its circulation; while a third will effectually expel from the system whatever impurities may have been discharged into the stomach through the instrumentality of the other ingredients. Hence, they strike at the root of Disease, remove all impure humors (the principal cause of disease) from the body; open the pores externally and internally; promote the insensible perspiration separate all foreign and obnoxious particles prom the Chyle, ensure a free and healthy action to the heart, lungs and liver, and thereby restore health, even when every other means have failed.

The entire truth of the above can be ascertained by the trial of a single box; and their virtues are so positive and certain in restoring health that the proprietor binds himself to return the money paid for them in all cases where they do not give universal satisfaction.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER BOX.

☞ Beware of an imitation article called Improved Sugar-Coated Pills, purporting to be patented, as both the pills and pretended patent are forgeries, got up by a miserable quack in New York, who, for the last four or five years has made his living by counterfeiting popular medicines.

CONSUMPTION!—Thompson's Compound Syrup, tar and wood naptha, for the cure of pulmonary consumption, asthma, bronchitis, spitting blood, pain in the side and breast, sore throat, hoarseness, palpitation of the heart, whooping cough, croup, hives, nervous tremors, liver complaint and diseased kidneys, are radically cured by Thompson's compound syrup of tar and wood naptha.

CONSUMPTIVES, READ AND REFLECT.—Let the following speak for itself:

The Portland (Me.) Advertiser says: "This remedy has been more successful than any medicine we have ever known, for its numerous cures in consumption, spitting of blood, pain in the side and breast, bronchitis, asthma, obstinate coughs, hoarseness, sore throat, palpitation of the heart, whooping cough, croup, nervous tremors, &c. Individuals of the highest respectability in this city, bear ample testimony to its power and efficacy in this class of diseases.

This invaluable medicine is prepared only by S. P. THOMPSON, north-east corner of Fifth and Spruce sts., Philadelphia, to whom all orders and communications must be addressrd. Price, 50 cents per bottle; or, six bottles for $2,50.

BRISTOL'S SARSAPARILLA—From H. Greely, Esq., Editor of the N. Y. Tribune.
NEW YORK, Sept. 3d, 1842.

The virtues of Sarsaparilla, as a restorer of purity to the blood, and consequently a cure for maladies resulting from its impurity, have been sufficiently set forth by numberless preparers and certificates. We will add a case within our own knowledge. A friend had a young child dangerously diseased with tumors as well within as upon its head, which had long defied medical skill. He stated the fears to us and we, pretending to no knowledge of medicine, urged him to try a bottle of Bristol's Extract of Sarsaparilla, as we knew Mr B, and had faith in his statements. He followed our advice, and cured the child immediately. This was two years ago; and we saw the little fellow yesterday in fine health. So much we know and can certify; and we believe the child is living now by virtue of that Sarsaparilla.

Light is Come.

NEW SPERM, LARD AND PINE OIL LAMP STORE.—The subscribers having opened a store, No. 8 St. Clair street, (West side) for the sale of Lamps, Oils, etc., respectfully invite the attention of the inhabitants of Pittsburgh, Allegheny, and the surrounding country generally, to their stock of Lamps, before purchasing elsewhere.—Our arrangements with the manufacturer are such that we can safely say we are prepared to light, in the most brilliant and economical manner, steamboats, Hotels, Public Halls, Churches, stores, shops, Parlors, Bridges and streets, as well as the "more dark and benighted corners," or any place where brilliancy, neatness and strict economy is desired. Among our means for letting our "light so shine," may be found the following Lamps for burning lard, lard oil and sperm oil, viz:

Hanging Lamps and Chandeliers, (2 to 4 branch) for lighting stores, Public Halls, Churches, Hotels and steamboats.

Stand and Centre Table Lamps, (various patterns and prices.)

Reading and Work Lamps.

Side and Wall Lamps, Glass and Tin Hand Lamps, &c.

The above are mostly Dyott's Patent Lamps, with double shelled fountain, and otherwise an improvement upon any other lamp now in use, which can be perceived at once by examination. Also, glass trimmings for lamps, such as globes, chimneys, wicks, &c.

LAST, THOUGH NOT LEAST!

Dyott's Patent Pine Oil Lamps, such as Hanging Lamps (glass fronts, with or without drops) Street Lamps, for lighting streets and bridges.

As we cannot describe the various patterns, we invite the public to examine them. We affirm that in brilliancy, cleanliness and economy, no light now in use will bear comparison with these Lamps, and Pine Oil. They are as safe to use as sperm or Lard Oil. Although some are endeavoring to identify this article with the old camphine and spirit gas, (by the use of which accidents have occurred) we assert to be another and different article, and that no accidents have occurred, during the extensive use of this article in Philadelphia for four years.

These Lamps will produce as much light with as much neatness and more brilliancy, and 25 per cent. less than any other light now in use, not excepting Gas.

If any one doubts statements we have or may hereafter make, we would say, we have commenced our business in Pittsburgh, intending to make it permanent, and knowing the merits of the article we offer the public, we are willing to hold ourselves accountable at all times for our statements, and are willing to put to test our Lamp—dollar and cents—testing economy—and the public deciding on the neatness and brilliancy of the light.

We have many testimonials and recommendations from Philadelphia and elsewhere, but the following may suffice for the present:

This is to certify that I have purchased of M. B. Dyott a sufficient number of his Patent Pine Oil Lamps to light the Universalist Church of Philadelphia, and have used them in said Church about two years. I have found them to give perfect satisfaction. The light produced by them is the most brilliant that I have ever seen. They are so economical that the cost of the Lamps has been saved several times over; the lighting up of the church not costing half as much as it did before we procured them.
Respectfully, JOHN DESSALET,
Secretary of the above named Church.
PHILADELPHIA, July 8, 1845.

The undersigned having used for two years Dyott's Patent Pine Oil Lamps in his Hotel, the Bolivar House, can recommend them of the most brilliant light that can be produced by any article now in use. Before I commenced lighting my house with the Pine Oil, I was using Gas; but after a trial of the above Lamps, I was so much pleased with the light and convinced of their economy, that I had the Gas removed, and burn the Pine Oil in its place.
WM. CARELS,
Proprietor of Bolivar House, No. 203, Chesnut st.
PHILADELPHIA, July 8, 1845.

ALLEGHENY CITY, July 11, 1845.

This may certify that we, the undersigned, having used for some months, Dyott's Patent Pine oil Lamps, can with the fullest confidence recommend them, as producing the most brilliant and economical light we have ever seen.—They are simple in their structure, and we believe them as safe a light as can be produced from any other Lamp, and much cheaper than any other kind of oil.

Medical.

A Cure for Consumption.

SEVEN THOUSAND CASES of obstinate Pulmonary Complaints cured in one year. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, the great American remedy for complaints and affections of the respiratory organs.

We do not wish to traffic with the lives or health of the afflicted, and we sincerely pledge ourselves to make no assertion as to the virtues of this medicine, and to hold out no hopes to suffering humanity which facts will not warrant.

We ask the attention of the candid to the following considerations.

Nature, in every part of her works, has left indelible marks of adaptation and design.

The constitution of animals and vegetables of the torrid, is such as they could not endure the cold of the frigid zone, and vice versa.

In regard to disease and its cure, the adaptation is more or less striking.

The Moss of Iceland, the Wild Cherry and Pines of all Northern latitudes (and Dr. Wistar's Balsam is a compound and chemical extract from these,) have long been celebrated for complaints prevalent only in cold climates. Indeed, the most distinguished medical men have averred that nature furnishes in every country medicines for its peculiar diseases.

Consumption in its confirmed and incipient stages, coughs, asthma, croup, and liver complaint, form by far the most fatal class of diseases known to our land. Yet even these may be cured, by means of the simple, yet powerful remedies named above, and which are scattered by a beneficent Providence, wherever those maladies prevail.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY!

Will Miracles never cease! More evidence of its surpassing Health Restorative Virtues!!

☞ ☞ ☞ ☞ ☞ ☞ ☞

From Dr. Baker, Sringfield, Washington Co.
SPRINGFIELD, Ky., May 14, 1845.

Messrs. Sandford & Park—Gent.: I take this opportunity of informing you of a most remarkable cure performed upon me by the use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the year 1840 I was teken with an inflammation of the bowels, which I labored under for six weeks, when I gradually recovered. In the fall of 1831 I was attacked with a severe chill, which seated itself upon my lungs; and for the space of three years I was confined to my bed. I tried all kinds of medicines, and every variety of medical aid without benefit, and thus I weeried along until the winter of 1844, until I heard of "Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry."

My friends persuaded me to give it a trial, though I had given up all hopes of recovery and had prepared myself for the change of another world. Through their solicitations I was induced to make use of the genuine Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. The effect was truly astonishing. After five years of affliction, pain and suffering; and after having spent four or five hundred dollars to no purpose, and the best and most respectable physicians had proved unavailing, I was soon restored to entire health by the blessing of God and the use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

I am now enjoying good health, and such is my altered appearance that I am no longer known when I meet my former acquaintances.

I have gained rapidly in weight, and my flesh is firm and solid. I can now eat as much as any person, and my food seems to agree with me. I have eaten more during the last six months than I had eaten five years before.

Considering my case almost a miracle, I deem it necessary for the good of the afflicted, and a duty I owe to the proprietors and my fellow men (who should know where relief may be had) to make this statement public.

May the blessings of God rest upon the proprietors of so valuable a medicine as Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

Yours, respectfully, WM. H. BAKER.

☞ The following letter from Dr. Ritchey, of Franklin, Ind., who stands high in his profession, and ranks among the first politicians of the State, shall speak for itself in commendation of the "Genuine Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry."

Franklin, Ind., April 14, 1845.

Messrs. Sandford & Park—I have but a few bottles of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry remaining on hand of the last lot furnished me by you. I heretofore waited until I had sold out and had obtained the money for one lot before I ordered another. But such is the demand for the article that I do not wish to be without it, and am therefore led to anticipate a little. The money for the last lot shall be forthcoming by the time the lot is disposed of, which, from the sales I have made lately, I think will be but a short time. The effects of the Balsam are in many cases strikingly beneficial. ☞ It improves upon acquaintance more than any other Patent Medicine I have ever known. ☜ Almost all others fail upon trial, and not being able to bear the test of experience, soon sink into disuse. This, however, seems to be most highly valued by those who have tested its virtues, and experienced its healing efficacy in their own cases. Yours, very respectfully, JAMES RITCHEY.

☞ THOSE WHO COUNTERFEIT a good medicine for the purpose of adding a few dollars to their pockets, are far worse than the manufacturers of spurious coin. For while the latter only robs us of our property, the former take property and health and life away. Dr. Wistar's BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY is admitted by thousands of disinterested witnesses, to have effected the most extraordinary cures in cases of an asthmatic character ever before recorded in the history of medicine.

The young, and beautiful, the good, all speak forth its praise. It is now the favorite medicine in the most intelligent families of our country.

Such a high stand in public estimation has been achieved by its own merits alone. And so long as a discerning public are careful to get Wistar's BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, and refuse with scorn counterfeits, and every other article proffered to them as a substitute, so long will cures—POSITIVE CURES—cheer the fireside of many a despairing family.

☞ The true and genuine "Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry," is sold at established agencies in all parts of the United States.

Sold in Cincinnati, on the corner of Fourth and Walnut streets, by SANDFORD & PARK,
Gen'l Agents for the Western States.

Also, sold wholesale and retail by L. Wilcox, and B. A. Fahnestock, Pittsburgh, Pa., and by appointed agents in every important Borough in Western Pennsylvania.

PURE FLUID MAGNESIA—The subscriber personally superintending the preparation of Pure Fluid Magnesia, which he warrants equal in strength and purity to that of any other preparation. A table spoonful of Fluid Magnesia is equal in strength to half a tea spoonful of common Magnesia, and it is not liable to injure the coats of the stomach, or form dangerous concretions in the bowels, persons requiring an aperient and anti-acid will at once appreciate the advantages of this preparation. An ounce or two of the solution speedily removes Heartburn, Acid eructations, sourness, or irregular digestion of females and children. Cold and Influenza, attended by gastric irritability, Headache, Acidities &c., Gravel and Gouty complaints, Cutaneous diseases and dyspepsia, depending on the presence of acid matters in the Stomach, are speedily removed by the use of the solution. Infants at the breast are subject to acidities of which the Solution is the test and remedy. See large bills for further particulars.

Sellers' Imperial Cough Syrup.

FOR the cure of coughs, colds, hoarseness, influenza, tickling sensation of the throat, whooping cough, &c., pronounced to be the pleasantest and most efficacious remedy now in use. Sellers' Imperial Cough Syrup has given relief to hundreds who have used it, and the proprietor is persuaded that it has the power to impart benefit that cannot be claimed for the cough mixtures in general use.

Most of the mixtures sold are composed of spirituous and inflammatory articles, which, while they give a little relief, really do harm. The Imperial Cough Syrup contains no spirituous ingredient whatever, and may be used in all cases not requiring active medical treatment. The Imperial Cough Syrup has been used for the last six years by the most respectable inhabitants of Pittsburgh and vicinity. Give it one trial.

Prepared and sold wholesale and retail by R. E. SELLERS, No. 125 Smithfield street, and also by Kerr & Mohler, 145 Wood street, L. Wilcox, jr., and Wm. Thorn, Market street, Fess & Cassel, 5th Ward, H. P. Schwartz and Jno. Mitchel Allegheny City. dec 17-lw

ORNAMENTAL HAIR WORK.—JOHN PECK, Wigmaker, in the old stand, No. 49, Fourth street, between Wood and Market streets, wishes to inform the public that, having just returned from the cities of Philadelphia and New York, with a new supply of stock, he is now prepared to fill all orders in his line. He has on hand, and intends keeping a large assortment of Ornamental Hair Work, viz: Ladies' Wigs, Bands, Braids, Curls, Necklaces, Guard Chains, Bracelets, &c.; Gentlemens' Wigs, Toupees, Scratches, &c., all of which will be sold low for cash. jy24

FIRE PROOF ROOFING.—The subscriber is now prepared to execute orders for Beacon's Patent Composition Fire Proof Roofing, at a cost considerably less than the ordinary Shingle Roofing, and warrant it for five years, a specimen of which can be seen at the corner of Front, at Mr. Varner's Hotel. This composition is far preferable to metalic roofing, as it is a non-conductor of heat—nothing in its composition that will corrode—of great durability—it will last as long as the walls of the building—and can be afforded for one half of the cost for any metalic used for the above purpose.

The article is superceding almost entirely every other method of roofing in some of the Eastern cities, and only wants to be known for its general adoption.

L. E. BACKUS.

A few testimonials of its merits are subjoined:—

NEWARK, N. J., May 16, 1845.

Some three or four years since we had the Zinc roofing taken off our building, and Mr. Bacon covered them with his Composition Roofing, which answered an excellent purpose for over two years, and until the buildings were destroyed by fire; at which time it was observed that they stood the fire extremely well, did not conduct it, and in fact did not consume as fast as the boards or planks upon which the Composition was laid.

Our buildings have been rebuilt within the last year, and they are entirely covered with the said Composition, although of great width and length, and forming together an area of rising 12,000 square feet, showing sufficiently, we think, the estimation we have of such roofing and our confidence therein. HEDENBURG & SON,
"Hedenbern's Works."

Office of the Mechanic's F. I. Co.,
NEWARK, N. J., May 17, 1845.

* * * * * * *

Since the fire in the Messrs. Hedenburg & Son's buildings, an alarming fire broke out of a large building adjacent to Mr. J. M. Quinby's factory buildings, under insurance by this Company, which were much exposed; one of them with the composition Roof, was in danger of being consumed in a few minutes, and the roof escaped injury, while many of its windows and some of its doors were destroyed.

From my observation and the opinion expressed either by persons who have taken pains to inform themselves with respect to Mr. Simeon Bacon, Jr.'s composition, I am convinced that it is equal, if not superior to zinc for roofing.

W. A. MYER, President.

To all whom it may concern, this is so certify that I have had one of Mr. Bacon's composition Roofs in use for two or three years past, and am well pleased with it. I tried it in the first place on one of my workshops, and after giving it a fair trial, I had the zinc roofs taken off of the rest of my factory, and this composition put on, and find it to answer much better, and I cordially recommend it to public favor. J. M. QUINBY.
NEWARK, May 12, 1845.

This is to certify that I have had one of Mr. Bacon's Composition Roofs on my shop for the last year, and, as far as my experience goes, would recommend it to general use. M. GOULD.
NEWARK, May 16, 1845.

Being well assured, upon particular enquiry, that Bacon's Composition Roofing is in all respects preferable to tin, we have adopted this method of covering our manufactories, Hope Buildings, No. 2, which are 125 by 30 feet.

CONSUMPTIVES OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY, ARE YOUR LUNGS OR LIVER DISEASED?—If so, look at the thousands of certificates of the most respectable and influential individuals from all portions of the United States, in testimony of the palliative and curative effects of Dr. Duncan's Expectorant Remedy.

Ask those persons in your own community who have long been in the habit of using this medicine in their families, what are the beneficial results attending its use. We take the liberty of referring, in connection with this notice, to the few among the many in our own county, who are competent to testify in this matter, and only ask them to say in favor of this remedy, what they can say conscientiously, from their own knowledge.

BRONCHITIS CURED.

DR. DUNCAN'S EXPECTORANT REMEDY ALWAYS CURES IF USED IN TIME.—Rev. James Watson, of the Methodist Society, in Philadelphia, was afflicted with this troublesome complaint for several years, which rendered him unable to attend to his ministerial duties as a preacher of the Gospel. His symptoms were a dry and painful cough with hoarseness, pain in the chest, side and breast, a sense of suffocation, so much so at times, that he could scarcely get his breath. His body and strength became reduced; countenance pale and sallow, showing all the symptoms of a speedy termination of his life; but fortunately, a lady, one of the members of his church, called to visit him while he lay prostrated upon his sick bed. Beholding his awful situation, she at once advised him to send for "Dr. Duncan's Expectorant Remedy," which he procured at the Philadelphia office, with faint hopes of ever recovering. He commenced using the medicine according to the directions. The effect was wonderful. The first week after using the medicine, the cough ceased; hoarseness disappeared. After using three bottles, his strength began to increase, which enabled him to go down stairs, and by the time he used eight bottles, he found himself a well person, and is now attending to his usual profession.

We, members of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, are well acquainted with Father Watson's afflictions, and can certify to the truth of the above.

☞ DR. DUNCAN'S EUROPEAN PANACEA, for the cure of Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, pimples on the face and body, Tetter, Gravel, Gout, Rheumatism, Ulcers and Sores of every description, Syphilis, Scorbutic Affections, Weakness and Debility, Inflammation of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Obstructions and Weakness, and all diseases arising from a torpid condition of the glands, and depravity or impurity of the blood.

The history of this truly Great Medicine is too well known to those who have visited the capitals of England and France, within the last few years, to require any recommendation to them. But for the benefit of the "Invalids of America," it would be proper to say that it is the favorite remedy among the nobility throughout Europe. This Panacea is perhaps the happiest combination of medicinal agents ever made, embracing, as it does, the power of eradicating diseases by its unequalled effects in purifying the blood, renovating the fluids and removing obstructions from the whole glandular apparatus. This medicine goes to work slowly and silently, extending its influence to every organ, giving them vigor and activity, and finally putting the whole machinery of man into complete and healthy action.

A Cheap and Pleasant Remedy!

PRICE'S COMPOUND COUGH CANDY.—This Candy is composed of the extracts of Horehound, Boneset, Seneka, Sarsaparilla, Liverwort, Liquorice Root, Iceland Moss, and Wild Cherry Bark, all combined together in such proportions that makes a medicated compound of vegetable extracts, unrivalled for curing diseases of the Breast and Lungs. Thousands have been relieved by it, after other remedies have failed; and it is this fact that has induced many individuals to imitate it in appearance and sell their productions as a cough candy, which, from its noxious and injurious qualities, have had no other effect than that prejudicing the public against the use of this truly medicated compound candy.

Persons suffering from coughs, colds, or hoarseness, will therefore be sure they get Price's Compound Cough Candy, and no other. nov 13-tf

Astonishing---Yet True!

THE TIME has arrived that Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, &c., can be cured—and without the aid of Calomel or any preparation of Mercury whatever. This is effected by Dr. G. S. Vallandigham's Superior Health Restorative. This extraordinary remedy for Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Heartburn, and such other affections as arise from a disordered condition of the digestive organs—the popularity of which is daily increasing, has effected cures which have called forth the warmest praise from those who have been relieved, and excited the wonder and admiration of all around them.—The afflicted will please call, purchase and be restored to health. A word to the wise is sufficient. Delays are dangerous. Why need people pine away with disease, when health can be purchased at so cheap a rate.

The following certificate is from a most respectable citizen of Northern Ohio—a gentleman well known throughout the whole country.

NEW LISBON, Ohio, March 5, 1845.

I do hereby certify, that having for a long time labored under a severe attack of Liver Complaint, and having made use of many remedies without effect. I at length procured some of Dr. G. S. Vallandigham's "Superior Health Restorative," and by use of the same have been restored to health. It affords me pleasure thus to bear my testimony to the efficacy of this medicine in my own case. If others who are similarly afflicted will only make use of this remedy, I think they will never regret it.

COUGH BALSAM.—This preparation has proved itself to be of very great efficacy in the cure of obstinate coughs, colds, asthma, whooping cough, spitting of blood, and other pneumatic affections; and the proprietors feel warranted in recommending it as a safe and useful medicine, and are prepared to show certificates of indisputable authority, in testimony of its value. It is pleasant to the taste, and offered at so low a price as to place it within the reach of every person. There are perhaps but few cough preparations that will produce so decided an effect in so short a time. Price, 25 cents per vial.

Messrs. B. A. Fahnestock & Co.—Gentlemen: About a year since, I used a bottle of your cough balsam in my family, and was so highly pleased with it, that I have kept it in my house as a standard remedy for coughs and colds. This winter I have recommended it to a number of my neighbors, who have used it with decided benefit. I would recommend it with confidence as an excellent remedy for coughs. E. ESTEP.

THE U. S CONSTITUTIONAL MANUAL. Being a comprehensive Compendium of the System of Government of the Country in the form of questions and answers designed for Academies, Schools and Readers in general. Recommendation from the Hon. Chief Justice Gibson:

CARLISLE, 12th August, 1845.

Dear Sir—I owe you an apology for not sooner acknowledging the receipt of your masterly Constitutional Manual, which I have read, and take leave to recommend. It is a book which no school should be without; for it is easy to predict that it will be found indispensible to scholars in the forms. It requires only to be known to be approved. With every wish for its success.

I am dear sir, your servant and friend,

HATHAWAY'S PATENT HOT AIR COOKING STOVES.—The subscriber having entered into the Stove business in Pittsburgh, respectfully informs the public that he intends carrying it on in its various branches at the warehouse, No. 124 WOOD STREET, above Fifth street, where he will be prepared to supply purchasers with any articles in his line. In addition to other Stoves which he will have on hand, he has obtained the right to manufacture and sell Hathaway's Patent Hot Air Cooking Stoves. This stove is pronounced superior to any other now in use in the United States, it is more durable in its construction, and better adapted to the use of baking, roasting and cooking, as it is heated very regularly by confining the air in the stove; and it is a great saving of fuel as well as labor. I will keep on hand a sufficient number to supply all demands, if possible; I have five different sizes, and will sell them on reasonable terms, according to the sizes. I have now in use upwards of fifty in and about this city; all put in use within six months. Being aware that the people of western Pennsylvania have been imposed upon by the introduction of new and highly recommended Stoves, which were badly constructed, and have soon failed and become useless, I therefore will grant to persons wishing to prove the Hot Air Stove, the privilege of using it a sufficient length of time to prove its superior quality before I ask them to purchase. Persons notifying me from a distance by letter, can have stoves put up at any time, as I have wagons to carry them out; I therefore invite Farmers and all persons to come and judge for themselves; also to try them and prove that it is to your advantage to have one. All orders will be promptly attended to by the subscriber.

ROBERT DONOVAN.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Miller's Mansion House, Sept. 19, 1844.

Mr. R. Donovan—Sir: I have in use one of Hathaway's Hot Air Cooking Stoves, which I got from you last spring. It affords me much pleasure to recommend it for its excellence. So far as my knowledge extends, I have no hesitation in saying it is the best now in use. I need not particularize its merits, but would advise all disposed to possess an article of the kind, to adopt the best method of satisfying themselves, that is, to try it; and I doubt not they will be satisfied. D. R. MILLER.

Washington Temperance House,
Pittsburgh, Sept. 19, 1844.

Mr. R. Donovan—Sir: I have had in use for five months one of Hathaway's Hot Air Cooking Stoves, and I have no hesitation in saying it is the best stove now in use. The various kinds of cooking it is calculated to do at the same time, and the small quantity of fuel required, makes it an object worthy the attention of all who desire a good stove. THOMAS VARNER.

☞ I embrace this opportunity to recommend the Hot Air Cooking Stoves; I have used the one you put up for me constantly all summer, and I must say it is a grand article; I believe it is superior to any other stove now in use in this city. The oven bakes well, and is large enough to bake four large loaves of bread at one time; it also cooks very speedy, and it requires very little coal. I think them woqthy the attention of all who wish a good stove: to such I would say, try them, and see what they are. [oct 7] MATTHEW PATRICK.
